On motion of Sullivan's attorney a separate trial was allowed. A verdict of not guilty in Sullivan's case was returned, as no direct proof of his guilt could be found. The indictment against McWeeney was nolled, and he was discharged. Sullivan felt very gay in view of the result of the trial. The "resolution" of these two seemingly conjoined "sters," he thought, was a lucky hit on the part of his counsel who was so long sighted that his vision may be said to be telescopic, and of five hundred horse power, like Bess' famour instrument. But Sullivan was greatly cast down, when it was made known to him, as of Pennsylvania, had served on sheriff Nicola a requisition for him, charged with highway robbery in that sister State. BACONSBURG, ORIO, 1 November 17th, 1865. EDITORS LEADER: Last night Mr. Joseph Newham, the oldest and most efficient track master on the A. & G. W. R. R., was preented with a beautiful gold watch and chain, costing one hundred and sixty-five lollars, by the track men of the Second Division who are under his immediate emdoy. The presentation took place at the Drew, the gentlemanly proprietors, had a splendid supper prepared for the committee and other invited guests. Jack Wynn, who s second to none as track foreman in repairs. was chosen chairman of the committee, and nade the presentation, performing his part well. It is needless to say that Mr. Newham was completely surprised. He could only remark in reply to Mr. Wynn's speech, that the reception of the evidences of their esteem was most gratifying as well as surprising; that he could only thank and assure them that in the discharge of his duties as their superior officer, as herefolore, he should use all men alike as long as he personal his duties to the company. After formed his duties to the company. After supper many drinks were taken, in which the boys who could not be present were not forgotten. Too much credit cannot be given Messrs. Post & Drew for the pleasant maner in which the whole affair passed off.
